Introduction

This index includes all articles and reviews published in Brethren in Christ History and Life since its inception in 1978. An index published as a book was one of the events in celebration of the thirty-year life of the journal of the Brethren in Christ Historical Society (see the December 2008 issue for articles relating to the celebration). On an earlier occasion, an index appeared within an issue of the journal. Later, in 2002, an updated index was published as a self-standing book. In the future the titles of articles and reviews will be entered upon the publication of each journal issue.

The Contents page outlines the organization of the index. To begin, all articles are listed alphabetically according to author. This section is followed by one in which the articles are divided into subject areas. Some articles are suitable for placement in more than one subject area, thus the reader or researcher is advised to examine two, perhaps even three, areas for related articles.

The index also lists (by author) all books reviewed from the inception of the journal. A following section lists reviewers of these books in recognition of their valuable services.

A last section of the index carries media reviews, together with the names of the reviewers. This section is briefer than the book reviews section because such reviews have only recently been added to the contents of the journal.

Special thanks are owed to Esther Ebersole and Lela Swalm Hostetler for checking entries.
